
been thinkin

Posted by Karter04 - 2008/09/04 23:30

Now i know thats a scary thought, but bear with me..

I've never seen one and it might already exist, but has anyone ever opened up a school of any nature that does nothing but teaching 3 pedal challenged individuals how to drive stick? 4 beater cars that you could stick a clutch in in 4 hours or less and like 50 spare clutches and you are good to go.. could teach winter driving and then street/strip driving too for more $$$

Re:been thinkin

Posted by bushelfoot - 2008/09/04 23:44

about 100 years ago when i was but a lad, i was taught to drive by the school drivers ed teacher and it was in a 62 chevy 4dr ,6 cylinder 3 speed , as they say on the tree. Personally i think your idea is a good one.

Re:been thinkin

Posted by draykas - 2008/09/05 00:06

I am sure it could we did it in the army alot that and ground handling aircraft. we just swapped the whole tranny since moving a 23000lb aircraft with a 1500 chevy pick up is a little much.

Re:been thinkin

Posted by Devin - 2008/09/05 00:57

draykas wrote:

I am sure it could we did it in the army alot that and ground handling aircraft. we just swapped the whole tranny since moving a 23000lb aircraft with a 1500 chevy pick up is a little much.

Hehe, that's something you are never going to see in an ad. :)

Re:been thinkin

Posted by draykas - 2008/09/05 01:22

yea but it didnt work for long to many trannies and it trashed rear ends now they use f450 platforms

Re:been thinkin

Posted by Karter04 - 2008/09/05 07:57

aside of insurance and gas it really wouldn't be that hard of a business to keep up.

Re:been thinkin

Posted by ArcadeGuest - 2008/09/05 13:41

That is a good idea

Re:been thinkin

Posted by Devin - 2008/09/05 14:22

draykas wrote:

yea but it didnt work for long to many trannies and it trashed rear ends now they use f450 platforms

If you guys were going to use gigantofords, you might as well just have stepped up to the F650, what I like to call the Ford Earth Destroyer:

.
http://www.streettostrip.com/images/fbfiles/images/112_2006_sema_299z_2007_ford_f650_by_DeBerti_Designs_side_view.jpg

=====

Re:been thinkin

Posted by draykas - 2008/09/05 18:07

too big doesnt fit on a c5 or c141 plus had to be light enough to sling load under aircraft

=====

Re:been thinkin

Posted by Jason R/T - 2008/09/06 13:41

I saw a black on on South Campbell once..

http://www.carsweb.cz/hatt/tuning/f650limo/20070517_ford_f650.jpg

F650 Limo anyone ? anyone ?

<http://www.abovealltrans.com/assets/images/F650.jpg>

<http://www.abovealltrans.com/assets/images/f650interior.jpg>

http://www.suvlimo.ca/images/f650_3.jpg

=====